

Associate General Counsel New York City | Hybrid

About OneChronos (www.OneChronos.com) OneChronos is a technology company innovating at the intersection of capital markets, mechanism design, and AI, designing and operating matching markets that process billions of dollars in securities transactions daily. Our legal function is a genuine partner to the business - not a gatekeeper.

We are seeking an Associate General Counsel to support our Chief Legal Officer across the full spectrum of legal matters that come with building and operating a technology company at the frontier of capital markets. This is a generalist role with real autonomy. You'll own meaningful workstreams from day one, not just support them.

What You'll Do

You'll work closely with our Chief Legal Officer as a true thought partner, supporting them across virtually every part of the business. Responsibilities include:

- Drafting, reviewing, and negotiating a broad range of commercial agreements including technology, data, and vendor contracts, in close partnership with business and engineering teams
- Supporting regulatory relationships and documentation across SEC, FINRA, and offering support to our global team on relevant frameworks, while monitoring the evolving regulatory landscape and advising the business accordingly
- Managing entity governance across jurisdictions, including board matters, resolutions, and corporate records, with support on financing or strategic transactions as the business grows
- Advising on employment matters across US and international jurisdictions, supporting the business and talent team on hiring, performance, policy, and employee relations
- Protecting and managing OneChronos's IP portfolio and advising on open source, licensing, and technology agreements in a software-first business
- Supporting the firm's data privacy compliance program across GDPR, CCPA, and other applicable frameworks, partnering with engineering and operations on privacy-by-design
- Partnering with outside counsel relationships selectively, ensuring quality and cost efficiency across specialized matters

Who You Are

- JD from an accredited law school required; NY bar admission or eligibility required
- 5+ years of experience as a corporate attorney, ideally with a mix of law firm and in-house experience
- A genuine generalist, comfortable moving across regulatory, commercial, employment, governance, and privacy matters without missing a beat
- Detail-oriented, with a high bar for clarity and precision in everything you write and review
- Someone who works independently, exercises sound judgment, and knows when to bring others in
- Energized by a fast-moving, technically sophisticated environment where the legal function is a true partner to the business
- Experience in financial services, trading, or regulated industries a plus

Compensation $180,000-$200,000 depending on experience, with potential bonus and equity grant
